What is a Residential Home for the Aged?

A Residential Home for the Aged, is a non-medical long term care facility for adults 55 years old and older who can no longer live on their own at home, due to they need round the clock supervision and assistance with their daily living activities such as bathing, eating, grooming, medication reminders, etc.). In addition to assistance with daily living activities, RHA's provide lodging and meal services..

When Should a RHA Be Considered?

A RHA facility should be considered when one can no longer live independently, but do not require the services from a medical long term care facility such as an assisted living or nursing home.

What is the Ambiance and Atmosphere of a RHA?

RHA's offer a smaller, more home-like family setting atmosphere. They offer food services and assistance with daily living activities, but do not typically have a medical professional on-site. RHA's are typically located in traditional homes and neighborhoods and provide care for fewer patients than assisted living communities.

What is the Cost of a RHA?

Living in a RHA is often half the cost of nursing home care, and in some states, it is even more affordable than assisted living care. However, cost can vary depending on the geographical location of the residential home, as well as, the types of services needed. In home care can cost anywhere from $1,500 a month to $4,500 each month; and dementia care can cost even more. Cost can also vary depending on room privacy. According to Genworth.com, a RHA facility typically runs $2,200 a month for a shared bedroom and $3,400 a month for a private bedroom. Most RHA's have private rooms available for their residents, as well, as shared rooms. RHA's are normally private pay facilities and do not accept Medicaid or Medicare.

Services Offered in RHA's

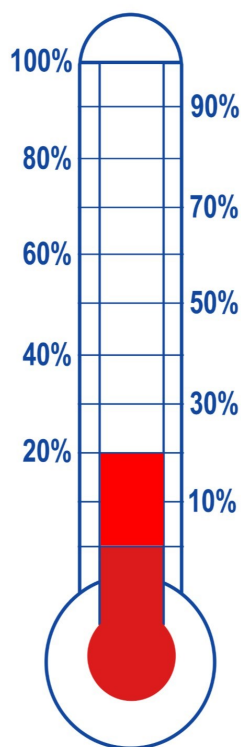

RHA's offer supervised care, meals, activities and health management. A RHA is a better fit for someone who needs more individual, home-setting care.

Here are some of the basic services offered in RHA's:

- Comfortable private, or semi-private, rooms
- 3 daily, home cooked meals
- Housekeeping and laundry service
- Medication assistance
- Social programs and activities

Therapeutic Gardens for Seniors

PHOL Therapeutic Gardens for Seniors

Our Goal

$2500

Thanks so much to our employees and community supporters who have already given toward the "PHOL Flower, Plant and Rock Garden Project"

It is not too late to help us reach our goal!
We Still Need Your Support....

Attaining our budget will allow us to hire a small local landscaping company to pull out all of the old plants, purchase garden supplies (flowers, rocks, plants, flower beds materials, mulch, etc.), purchase refurbish and repair garden furniture.

Please help us reach our goal by mailing your tax deductible donation to Pendleton House of Love, 1934 Pendleton St., Memphis, TN 38114-4952, or by submitting your donation online at www.pendloveinc.com.

Wishing You A Happy and Safe Independence Day!

We love and appreciate the great men and women who have served and is currently serving our country.....We Salute You today and forever!

Shirley J. Deberry, A Woman of Heart & Soul.....

Anyone who knows Ms. Shirley Deberry, knows that she has put her heart and soul into serving the senior and mildly-mentally ill community for over 40 years. She cared for seniors through her nursing career as well as through her and long term care career.... Although she has retired, she will always be with the Pendleton House of Love Family. We Love and Miss You Ms. Deberry! Thanks for making "Love an Action and a Standard" for PHOL instead of a slogan...

We are Under New Management....

PHOL is under new management, but our commitment to love and provide quality and professional long term care services to seniors is still our primary goal today and forever more.....

We invite local businesses, churches, social workers, case managers and our neighbors in the community to set up a tour to come by and meet our new administrator and see what we have done to the facility.

Call 901-744-6327 to schedule a tour today...

We Salute the PHOL Founders!
Mrs. Shirley and Adolphus Deberry

It is with great honor that we dedicate our:
"Heart and Soul Conference Room"
and Library to our Founders...
